

November 2016 Hot List

To help the cream rise to the top, I maintain a personal hot list of today's most compelling buyback stocks. I carefully research and monitor the stocks on my hot list, considering them as potential buys for the Buyback Premium Portfolio. There are typically 20-25 stocks on this list, and it is from among these that my five Premium Portfolio winners emerge each month.

For the benefit and interest of experienced investors, we offer this glimpse at our ongoing hot list – a bonus for subscribers who want a look behind the scenes. We know there are subscribers who might like to move beyond the recommended five and look at the list from which the monthly premium portfolio is chosen. Let me stress that we're not recommending you purchase these stocks, just sharing our hot list with elite investors who might be interested.

The Buyback Premium Portfolio is currently beating the S&P 500 by more than 78% since its inception (August 2, 2000). We hope you are participating in these profits.
